Title: All About Poe
Audience: Middle
Duration: 50 Minutes
Subject Area(s): Social Studies
Grade Level(s): 6,7,8,9

Teacher Directions:

In this activity, students will conduct research using the Knowing Poe Interactive Timeline to learn about the author's life. Students will collect facts, and make connections between the facts and how they impacted Poe's life and ultimately his writing. Students will write an obituary or a newspaper article on the life and death of Poe, and as an extension activity, students will work in small groups to create a Poe radio broadcast.

This activity can be completed using a variety of technology configurations. If a computer lab is available, students can access the activity, worksheets and Web pages through Thinkport.

Another option would be to display the activity and Interactive Timeline on a classroom computer with a projection device. In this case, students will need a copy of each worksheet.

Focus for Media Interaction

The focus for viewing the Knowing Poe Interactive Timeline is for students to collect basic facts about Poe's life.

Viewing Activity

Tell students to open the Knowing Poe Interactive Timeline section on the Poe the Person page. Explain to them that they will be using this section to research and collect basic facts about Poe's life. Ask them to open up the Knowing Poe Interactive Timeline Organizer (or pass out copies of this handout to the students) and have them collect information about Poe and record it in the organizer.

Postviewing Activity

1. After students have completed the organizer, lead students in a class discussion about the facts. The intention here is to help students make connections between the facts, not just get the facts. Questions for this discussion might include the following:
- What were some of the tragic events Poe faced during his life? How do you think these may have influenced Poe's writing?
- Poe was sometimes described as opinionated, romantic, impractical, arrogant, ingenious, creative, intelligent and restless. Did you find examples in your research that would support these descriptions?
- Do you think many of the themes of Poe's work can be explained by the events in his life?
- Do you think Poe's frequent moves impacted his work? Explain.
- Are you surprised that Poe didn't get along with his father? Explain.
- Poe was recognized as a skilled writer during his lifetime and yet he was often very poor. Do you think this would happen if Poe had lived today? Explain.
- Do you think that the time period in which Poe lived is reflected in his writing? Explain.

2. After the students have made connections between the various facts of Poe's life, students will write Poe's obituary or a newspaper article that briefly explains the life and death of Poe. Tell students that the following information needs to be included in the obituary: dates of birth and death, where the author lived, names of his birth and adoptive parents, his relationship with his father, his wife's name, examples of important works, and a brief history of employment and financial struggles. Tell students to refer to the rubric as they are writing the obituary.

Extension Activity Students will use the facts they collected to create a Poe radio broadcast. Have students work in small groups to create interview questions, write a narrator script, cast Poe and a narrator, and tape the broadcast.

Student Directions:
What was the first tragic event in Poe's life, and what was unusual about the woman he married? How did these events and others influence Poe's life? You will find the answers to these questions and learn many other fascinating facts during this activity.
